

Issues - Program List (April 10, 2007)

As required quarterly by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), this Issues and Program List will identify the programs aired over WETD 90.7 FM, State University of New York, Alfred, NY 14802 over the preceding quarter (January 10, 2007 – April 9, 2007). In order to fulfill part 73.3527 of Title 47 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) regarding non-commercial, educational radio stations, WETD 90.7 FM is required by the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) to submit a Quarterly List reflecting the “licensee’s most significant programming treatment of community issues”. The Issues – Program List must be filed in the Public Inspection File each quarter (On January 10th, April 10th, July 10th, and October 10th.)

WETD 90.7 FM is owned by The State University of New York (SUNY). Interim President, Dr. John Clark, and the President’s Counsel of Alfred State College (ASC) oversee the daily operation of the radio station. WETD is funded and operated as an ASC Student Senate-funded club.

WETD continues to seek to determine definitely what issues are affecting our community, and provide serious treatment for our listeners within the FCC defined guidelines for Issues and Programming Lists. The BOD has worked towards this by conducting the Community-wide survey concerning what are the most significant issues that affect our listener’s lives. There are several clear areas, most notably personal finance and personal relationships. WETD is looking at all identified areas in this survey for adding need-specific programming for our listeners.

The main programs on the Issues & Programming list are The Health Show, 51%, and The Best of our Knowledge.

1. The Health Show is a nationally syndicated public radio program produced by the National Productions unit at Northeast Public Radio. The program covers all aspects of modern health: prevention, treatment, research, administration and more. Each week The Health Show breaks the issues down so you can be a better informed patient or care-provider.
 - a. Funding: Funding for The Health Show comes from Northeast Public Radio and its listeners. Additional funding comes from the generous support of Wallace Genetic Foundation which provides grants in the areas of environmental education, children’s environmental health and preservation of farmland and national resources, especially water.
 - b. Contact info: The Health Show

01/5/07	9:02	979	DISCUSSION: SILICONE BREAST IMPLANTS Here to talk about silicone gel breast implants is Dr. David Metzner, a board certified plastic surgeon practicing in Southern Vermont
01/5/07	4:20	979	STORY: HEALTHY SCHOOLS Millions of school children and adults across the nation spend a large portion of the year in school buildings...building that need to be safe, healthy environments. But a new book called "Safe and Healthy School Environments" says many of our schools fall short. The book talks about lack of proper ventilation, heating, lighting and security. The Health Show's Glenn Busby has more...
01/5/07	6:23	979	COMMENTARY: GUILT SEASON We've survived the holiday season and now it's time to tally up our unhealthy cookie binges and midnight turkey sandwiches and head right into what commentator and dietitian Ilyse Simon calls the guilt season...
01/12/07	8:28	980	STORY: WORLD DIABETES CONFERENCE The number of children around the world diagnosed with type-2 diabetes is rising sharply. Dr Francine Kaufman is a professor of pediatrics at the University of Southern California's Keck School of Medicine and a former president of the American Diabetes Association. Dr Kaufman explained to the Health Show's JimHorne that the message she brought to South Africa involved children around the world with diabetes:
01/12/07	2:02	980	STORY: NEW DIABETES MEDS A number of new drugs to treat diabetes may hold great promise to help people manage the disease. Here's Andi McDonnell with more
01/12/07	8:11	980	DISCUSSION: PEDIATRIC DENTISTRY According to the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry, good oral health is an important part of total health...and begins almost from birth. Dr. Larry Kotlow is a Pediatric Dentist, board certified by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry on the staff of St. Peters Hospital and in private practice in Albany, NY. Dr. Kotlow, tell us about the difference between regular and pediatric dentistry.
01/12/07	9:36	981	DISCUSSION: WOMEN'S HOSPITALS There are only two women's hospitals left in the country...and one of them has been tapped to close. Why does this matter? What is a woman's hospital anyway...and how is it different from any other hospital? That's what The Health Show's Mary Darcy asked Anne Sailes, CEO of Bellevue Woman's Hospital...
01/12/07	10:30	981	DISCUSSION: A WOMAN'S GUIDE TO SAVING HER LIFE The number one killers of women in the US are heart disease and stroke. But many women don't think they are at risk or recognize the warning signs. Mellanie True Hills was one of them. She was a self-described business "road warrior"...constantly traveling, always on the go, living the high stress life to the fullest. That life almost ended during emergency heart surgery. She wrote about her experiences in her book "A Woman's Guide to Saving Her Own Life".
01/26/07	9:37	982	STORY: C-SECTIONS Almost a third of all births in the US are now by Cesarean Section...a number that has been steadily on the rise for the past decade, after leveling off and even dropping a bit in the early 1990s. Why the renewed upswing in surgical births? The Health Show's Jacqueline Froelich looks for answers...
01/26/07	8:23	982	DISCUSSION: BELING – HYPERTENSION If you're sitting at a table with three other people, odds are one of you has high blood pressure. Here to talk about hypertension and all the problems it creates for us is The Health Show's Diet & Lifestyle Consultant Dr. Stephanie Beling. Dr. Beling, with all we know about high blood pressure you'd figure everyone would know by now if they were walking around with it...
01/26/07	2:19	982	COMMENTARY: THIS JUST IN - QUITTING SMOKING = NOT EASY! As newly passed smoking bans go into effect across the country, a milestone has been reached. By the end of this year, half the population of the US will live in states or cities that ban smoking in public places. While passing these bans is getting a little easier...quitting smoking remains very hard. Today, Catherine Sebastian tells us how she's doing.
02/2/07	8:31	983	STORY: MIDWIFERY At the turn of the 20th century, nearly half of all babies in the US were delivered by midwives. Just 75 years later in 1975, doctors were bringing 99 percent of all babies into the world. So why is the practice of midwifery making a comeback here in the 21st century? The Health Show's Jacqueline Froelich took a look...
02/2/07	1:55	983	STORY: TONSILS / ADHD LINK? A new study from the University of Michigan Health System finds that children who have surgery to remove their tonsils are very likely to behave and sleep better one year later. The research paper, published in the Pediatrics, seems to support previous observations of a link between children's sleep-related breathing problems...such as snoring and breathing interruptions called apneas...and daytime behavior problems. Here's Andi McDonnell with more.
02/2/07	4:20	983	STORY: STATE OF THE HEALTH UNION 2007 One of the most talked about proposals in President Bush's 2007 State Of The Union Address was his proposal to reform the way Americans get health coverage. The Health Show's Bob Barrett takes another look and listen.
02/2/07	3:57	983	STORY: HEY! WASH YOUR HANDS So how many people have called in sick from your office over the last four or five weeks? There have been some nasty bugs floating around this winter, including a lot of cases of noro-virus. This plus all the regular colds and flu going around in the winter adds up to some pretty unpleasant days in bed. But there is a way to help prevent all this nastiness...the single most effective disease prevention method known to man. It's called: washing your hands. The Health Show's Brian Shields reports...
02/9/0	11:46	984	STORY: STRANGE SON Currently one out of every 166 children in the United States is being diagnosed with Autism...and there are currently more than a million Americans living with the condition. There are few conditions that are more devastating to parents and puzzling to medical science which still questions why Autism occurs as it looks to provide effective treatment. Parents are naturally wary about so called breakthroughs, yet Portia Iverson, herself the mother of a child with Autism, describes an extraordinarily promising new teaching method pioneered by another mother from half way around the globe working entirely on her own, which Iverson saw work wonders with her own son, as well as an amazing young man from India, in the book "Strange Son: Two Mothers, Two Sons and the Quest to Unlock The Hidden World of Autism". The Health Show's Joe Donahue spoke with Portia Iverson about her journey...and how she came to tell the story in "Strange Son"...

- 02/9/07 8:05 984 DISCUSSION: COPING WITH CHEMOTHERAPY & RADIATION One of the most frightening moments in a person's life is the day he is diagnosed with cancer. There are so many questions. What is the right treatment? What are my chances of survival? And even, what are questions I should be asking my doctors? Dr. Daniel Cukier is a radiation oncologist and diagnostic oncology specialist from, Northampton, Massachusetts...and the author of "Coping with Chemotherapy & Radiation". The Health Show's Susan Arbetter spoke with him about why he and his colleagues put this book together...
- 02/16/07 7:55 985 STORY: PANIC ATTACKS A panic attack can happen anywhere and at anytime...and if you've ever had one you know how debilitating they can be. During an attack your heart rate goes into overdrive, your face flushes...you can't seem to get a good breath...then there's dizziness, nausea and a general loss of control. Some people believe they having a heart attack. Panic attacks are sudden episodes of intense fear that, in a given year, affect almost two and half million Americans. To help understand panic attacks and panic disorder the Health Show's Jim Horne spoke with Dr. Dianne Chambless, a professor in the Department of Psychology and Director of Clinical Training at the University of Pennsylvania...
- 02/16/07 5:21 985 STORY: COW CUDDLING So, treating panic attacks can be done through medication, counseling or a combination of both. But what about the bovine method? No, you heard right...I said bovine as in "cows". It seems there's this farming family in the Dutch countryside who is offering therapeutic cow cuddling. Radio Netherlands' Queenie Scholtes went down to their Hupkes farm to join in on one of their group cuddling sessions.
- 02/16/07 6:25 985 DISCUSSION: LASER DENTISTRY Earlier we talked about panic attacks and if you've ever seen the look on the face of certain people as they head to the dentist, you may already know what one looks like. But there is new technology that is taking the stress out of a trip to the dentist for patients of all ages. Here to talk about these advances is Dr. Larry Kotlow, a Pediatric Dentist, board certified by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry. He is also on the staff of St. Peter's Hospital and in private practice in Albany, NY. So Dr. Kotlow, what's going on that can help patients leave their fears at the door?
- 02/23/07 9:39 986 DISCUSSION: POST BARIATRIC PLASTIC SURGERY For the tens of thousands of morbidly obese Americans who undergo bariatric or weight loss surgery every year...the stomach reducing procedure is just the first step back to health and self esteem. Patients must stick to a strict diet for the rest of their lives, and as the weight comes off, many are left with pounds of excess skin just hanging off their shrinking forms. For many, the next step is a series of operations collectively called body contouring, where plastic surgeons remove this excess tissue and try to restore the body to a more aesthetically pleasing condition. Here to talk about these procedures is Dr. Jason Spector, an assistant professor of Plastic Surgery at Weill Cornell Medical Center in New York City. Dr. Spector, what can happen to a person's appearance when they lose so much weight?
- 02/23/07 2:06 986 STORY: EARLY CHILDHOOD NUTRITION Of course the most effective way achieving a healthy weight is to never get overweight in the first place. And as Andi McDonnell from the University of Michigan Health Systems tells us...healthy eating habits can begin at a very early age...
- 02/23/07 7:52 986 DISCUSSION: ADDICTION SPECIALIST CHARLES O'BRIEN Addiction today is commonly considered and treated as a disease...but it hasn't always been that way. Dr. Charles O'Brien of the University of Pennsylvania is one of the leading experts on addiction research and treatment in the US...and his work has been vital in changing the way addiction has been looked at over the past few decades. He is also the namesake of the Charles O'Brien Center for Addiction Treatment in Philadelphia. He recently spoke with Thijs Westerbeek of Radio Netherlands about his life's work and the changing views of addiction...
- 03/2/07 7:52 987 DISCUSSION: DOCTORS DEALING WITH DEATH Modern medicine becomes more sophisticated and gives more hope to patients every day. But one unavoidable and constant experience for doctors...no matter how good they are...is death. And doctors, being no less human than the rest of us, often need to find ways to deal with the inevitable emotions and impossible questions posed by terminally ill patients. In her new book "FINAL EXAM : A Surgeon's Reflections on Mortality", liver transplant surgeon Dr. Pauline Chen describes, in a series of moving essays, what she has learned in med school and during her career about helping the terminally ill and the limits of modern medicine. She spoke with the Health Show's Jim Horne:
- 03/2/07 2:26 987 COMMENTARY: EVERYTHING'S RELATIVE As difficult as dealing with death is from a doctor's point of view, facing your own mortality opens up a whole new knapsack full of emotions. That's exactly what happened to commentator Judah Leblang recently when he was diagnosed with skin cancer. He tried to put those emotions into words in a piece he calls "Everything is Relative".
- 03/2/07 7:57 987 DISCUSSION: THE MIGRAINE/HEART CONNECTION A recent study in the Netherlands' has found a possible link between a common heart defect and migraine headaches...giving some hope to migraine sufferers that long term relief could be just a simple operation away. Radio Netherlands' Laura Durnford spoke with the doctor leading the research..
- 03/9/07 5:37 988 DISCUSSION: DISCUSSION: TEEN DIETS While trying to lose some weight can be a very healthy decision for many, a study conducted by researchers at the University of Minnesota...and appearing in the January issue of the journal Pediatrics...indicates that reading such articles can lead to unhealthy consequences for teenage girls. The Health Show's Jim Horne spoke with Patricia Van Den Berg, a co-author of the study titled Is Dieting Advice From Magazines Helpful or Harmful?
- 03/9/07 7:56 988 DISCUSSION: EATING DISORDERS So when does a desire to get to a healthy weight cross the line and become an eating disorder. Ann Saille is the president and CEO of Bellevue Woman's Hospital in Niskayuna, New York. Bellevue recently opened an eating disorders clinic. The Health Show's Mary Darcy spoke with Ann about the problem...
- 03/9/07 6:25 988 DISCUSSION: TATTOO VACCINE The art of tattooing has been a part of almost every culture since the beginning of modern times...and has, of course, become wildly popular again over the past two decades. But recently, researchers at the Netherlands' Cancer Institute in Amsterdam decided to try to use tattoo technology as a way to deliver certain vaccines. Radio Netherlands's Laura Durnford explains...
- 03/16/07 4:03 989 STORY: AIDS PREVENTION FROM THE MOSQUE Religious leaders have not been in the forefront of the fight against AIDS. For years, many preached that the deadly virus was punishment for sin, and those who got AIDS somehow deserved it. But with new understanding about HIV, and its spread into all segments of society, the message from American pulpits is changing. Reporter Nancy Greenleese has the story of a predominately African American mosque in Denver that is breaking new ground with an AIDS prevention program for Muslims and local prisoners.
- 03/16/07 7:18 989 DISCUSSION: MACULAR DEGENERATION March is age related Macular Degeneration Awareness Month. More and more we are hearing about this condition that can slowly steal your eye sight as you age. Dr. Michael Cooney is the former director of the Duke Center for Macular Degeneration at Duke Eye Center and is currently practicing at Vitreous Retina Macula Consultants of New York in Manhattan. I asked him to give us a quick definition of Macular Degeneration.

03/16/07	5:59	989	DISCUSSION: DEPRESSION IN WOMEN Over the course of their lifetime, over 20 percent of women experience depression and anxiety...that's compared to 10 percent for men. Here to try to get to the bottom of this big difference is The Health Show's Mary Darcy and Dr. Lynn Shuster, the medical editor of the Mayo Clinic Health Letter for Women.
03/16/07	2:19	989	STORY: ELDERLY DEPRESSION Millions of older adults in the United States, both men and women, face mental health problems, but very few are getting the professional treatment they need. Here's Andi McDonnell with more.
03/23/07	7:45	990	STORY: HELMET LAWS So, if you were to get on a motorcycle and ride as long as you wanted...would you have to wear a helmet? The answer is yes in only 20 states and the District of Columbia. In 1976, the federal government no longer made mandatory helmet use laws a condition for getting federal highway funds. Since then, bikers have lobbied states to drop their laws with a lot of success. But at what cost? Jacqueline Froelich reports with loud pipes from Fayetteville, Arkansas.
03/23/07	7:26	990	DISCUSSION: COLON CANCER & AFRICAN AMERICAN WOMEN Every March is Colon Cancer Awareness Month in the US...and every year we like to talk to someone in the field of screening and research for this potentially fatal...but treatable disease. Treatable, that is, if it's is detected early. If not...well Colon Cancer is the second leading cause of cancer related death in the US. Dr. Jacqueline Stiff is the Chief Medical Officer of United Health Care for the Colorado/New Mexico Region. She has some information about a certain group that is much more at risk than they realize. But first, doctor...in general, how are we doing with screening for colon cancer? Is the word getting out?
03/23/07	4:49	990	COMMENTARY: GETTING REAMED So when we talk about colonoscopy and "getting prepped"...what exactly are we suggesting you go through? Freelance writer Regina Kalet thought she'd help us get to the bottom of the matter by sharing her fond colonoscopy memories.
03/30/07	7:37	991	STORY: DIAGNOSIS EPIDEMIC In a recent column in the New York Times Dr. Gil Welch, with colleagues Drs. Lisa Schwartz and Steven Woloshin, warns that there is an epidemic running wild in this country... not Avian flu, West Nile or Mad Cow disease. They warn of an epidemic of diagnoses. Dr Welch spoke with the Health Show's Jim Home:
03/30/07	6:51	991	DISCUSSION: PROTECT THAT SKIN Here in the Northeast it doesn't quite feel like it yet...but Spring is blooming across the country. With the longer days and warming temperatures, more of us are braving the great outdoors with a little less clothing...so we thought it would be a good time to issue that annual reminder about protecting your skin against sun damage. Here to help is Dr. Coyle Connolly, a board certified dermatologist practicing in New Jersey. Dr. Connolly, after the long cold winter don't we deserve a little sun?
03/30/07	5:47	991	STORY: THE NEURO-BIOLOGY OF LOVE Well sun isn't the only thing on our minds in the spring. The poet Lord Alfred Tennyson wrote "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love". But what exactly is going on in a newly smitten young man's mind? Neuroscientists, not a group you'd consider to be at the forefront of romance, recently got together at a conference at the University of California at Berkeley. There, the scientists pored over reams of neuro-physiologic data – about love. Lonny Shavelson reports.

1/03/07	4:06	912	Dar Williams and Joan Baez help us celebrate the fact that we're all another year older.
1/12/07	2:18	913	As we begin this new year, we thought we'd give some of our listeners an opportunity to share their thoughts... and stories with us. Starting over is a common theme. Our first essayist, Catherine Sebastian is trying a fresh start of sorts. How's she doing... well, lets find out...
1/12/07	4:05	913	If you can't beat em...do you just join em"? Where does the inspiration come from that pushes us to change? It's something our next essayist, Regina Kalet ponders now and again, from a place she calls, "plodders world".
1/12/07	3:11	913	Now... if you really want to get in shape, our next essayist says you may want to forgo sweats and a gym membership. Toni Lacativa Farkas has taken up a whole new sport she thinks might catch on...Toni Lacativa-Farkas (Laka-Teeva FAR-Kus)
1/12/07	3:43	913	Sometimes a new year inspires you to make yourself over, break free of those old conventions and break out your inner rebel. How do you do that? Carolee Sherwood has one idea.
1/12/07	3:57	913	As each year goes by, we change as women. Some of those changes are deeply personal, but others are universal. The type of changes we may not talk about...but most of us understand at a very basic level. The changes that force us to grow up, as we grow old. In our next piece, singer actress Gay Marshall takes us through one young woman's journey, in a song called "My Childhood", from the Off Broadway hit, "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris".
1/12/07	3:30	913	No matter what changes the new year has in store for you, Martha Holmes hopes you're on the road to success.
1/19/07	7:59	914	Condi's War, Barbara Boxer Discovers Family Values, Boxer should apologize to Condi... and articles on Womb Politics. It all stems from a comment Boxer made to Condoleezza Rice at a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. A comment that many say was blown way out of proportion. Mary talks with Salon.com's Rebecca Traister about the situation. Traister is a writer at Salon and a contributor to Broadsheet, their Blog about women.
1/19/07	6:31	914	Shortly after the collapse of the Soviet Union, the Central Asian country of Tajikistan declared it's independence from the U.S.S.R. From 1992 to 1997, the nation underwent a civil war...the scars of which can still be felt today. Tajikistan borders Afghanistan, so it's strategically important to the U.S. Some there feel the nation is rebuilding...but in recent years, women there have suffered from violence, trafficking and economic insecurity.51%'s Roxana Saberi visited Tajikistan, and sends this report...
1/19/07		914	By now, many of us have already broken those New Years Resolutions. Sure,we wanted to be nicer to people, take off a few pounds, quit smoking, read more. We were well intentioned...but somehow it just didn't work out. If you've fallen off the wagon... chances are MJ Ryan knows why, and she can help you get back on again. MJ Ryan is a personal coach and the author of, "This Year I Will: How to Finally Change a Habit, Keep a Resolution ... or Make a Dream Come True." What does she know about us that we don't? 51%'s Joe Donahue found out...
1/26/07	13:07	915	For the first time ever, the world's largest humanitarian award—the 1 point 5 million dollar Hilton Humanitarian Prize has gone to a women's organization. Women for Women International provides direct aid and micro credit loans to women in 11 countries around the world, including Iraq, Afghanistan, Bosnia, Sudan and Rwanda. The organization was started in 1993 by Zainab Salbi. Zainab Salbi spoke with Susan Arbetter last year about her work with Women for Women International, and her book, "Between Two Worlds"—about how her fathers appointment changed her family.
1/26/07	7:23	915	One of the problems women in poor nations must deal with, is the fear of sex trafficking. According to the United Nations, millions of women and children are trafficked around the world each year. The corridor between Europe and Turkey has become a center of sex trafficking activity. Now, authorities there are fighting back. Among their efforts, the I.O.M. The United Nations organization for migration, has set up an emergency telephone line for women. More than 50 women have been saved from prostitution this way... but as Dorian Jones reports from Istanbul... the people making the calls...are not who you might think.
2/2/07	5:23	916	So, according to a recent article in The New York Times, 51% of women are living without spouses. Now ... since the article came out folks have been debating the social implications of this finding... or the lack thereof. But 51%'s Susan Sweetser thinks it should serve as a reminder to women everywhere. She spoke with 51%'s Mary Darcy.
