

Issues - Program List (October 10, 2016)

As required quarterly by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), this Issues and Program List will identify the programs aired over WETD 90.7 FM, State University of New York, Alfred, NY 14802 over the preceding quarter (Jan. 1, 2016 – Mar. 31, 2016). In order to fulfill part 73.3527 of Title 47 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) regarding non-commercial, educational radio stations, WETD 90.7 FM is required by the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) to submit a Quarterly List reflecting the “licensee’s most significant programming treatment of community issues”. The Issues – Program List must be filed in the Public Inspection File each quarter (On January 10th, April 10th, July 10th, and October 10th.)

WETD 90.7 FM is owned by The State University of New York (SUNY). Alfred State College’s (ASC) President, Dr. Irby (Skip) Sullivan, and the ASC President’s Counsel currently oversee the daily operations of the radio station. WETD is funded and operated as an ASC Student Senate-funded club.

WETD continues to determine conclusively what current issues are affecting our community, and provide serious treatment for our listeners within the FCC defined guidelines for Issues and Programming Lists. The WETD Board of Directors (BOD) work towards this by conducting various campus and local community-wide surveys, and providing data samples of the most significant issues affecting our listener’s lives. Our WETD leadership looks at each identified areas from these continuing surveys, and provide need-specific and timely programming for our listeners.

The main programs on the Issues & Programming list are To the Best of our Knowledge, 51%, A Way With Words, America's Test Kitchen, On The Money, Legislative Gazette, and Making Contact.

1. Since 1990, To the Best of Our Knowledge has highlighted breakthroughs across disciplines and across the globe, putting listeners in touch with the men and women at the forefront of their fields. Each week this program examines some of the issues unique to college campuses, looks at the latest research, and invites commentary from experts and administrators from all levels of education. The Best of Our Knowledge is produced by WAMC/Northeast Public Radio's National Productions in Albany, N.Y. Production support for The Best of Our Knowledge comes from Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario, Canada.
2. 51% is a weekly half-hour of illuminating features and interviews focusing on issues of particular concern to women. Host Susan Barnett talks to experts in their field for a wide-ranging, entertaining discussion of traditional 'women's issues' and other global topics. The program is produced by WAMC/Northeast Public Radio's National Productions, 318 Central Avenue, Albany NY 12206 in cooperation with Russell Sage College, Troy, NY.
3. A Way with Words is a lively hour-long public radio show about language, on the air since 1998. Author Martha Barnette and dictionary editor Grant Barrett take calls about slang, grammar, old sayings, word origins, regional dialects, family expressions, and speaking and writing well. It is produced by WayWords, Inc, P.O. Box 632721 San Diego, CA 92163, a CA Non-profit organization. For more info, visit <http://www.waywordradio.org>.
4. America’s Test Kitchen Radio applies the no-nonsense, first-hand testing approach to the wide world of food, dining, and cooking—with your voices thrown into the mix for good measure. Each episode features food and cookware recommendations and in-depth interviews. America’s Test Kitchen Radio with host Chris Kimball is produced by America's Test Kitchen, 17 Station Street Brookline, MA 02445, and is one of public radio’s newest weekend anchor programs, distributed by PRX.
5. On The Money with Steve Pomeranz has been educating and counseling investors to make informed money decisions since 2001. OTM is produced by United Capital Private Wealth Counseling, Boca Raton, FL, and accepts no commissions, nor do they represent any mutual fund company, money manager, brokerage firm, bank or insurance company. They sell no product and have no interest in any investment recommended. For more info, visit <http://www.onthemoneyradio.org>.
6. Legislative Gazette: A 25-min weekly in-depth look at New York State politics and government each week on The Legislative Gazette. Hosted by David Guistina, the program features regular commentary by syndicated columnist and political scientist Dr. Alan Chartock. On each program, the award-winning WAMC News Team (Albany) combines forces to bring you a wrap-up of the week’s political news, the goings on in and around the NYS legislature, and the stories that will keep you well-informed and in the know. For information, visit <http://wamc.org/programs/legislative-gazette-wamc>.

7. Making Contact: Making Contact produced by the National Radio Project, is an award winning, 29 minute weekly magazine/documentary-style public affairs program heard on more than 130 radio stations in the USA, Canada, South Africa and Ireland. Making Contact is committed to in-depth critical analysis that goes beyond the breaking news. Showcasing voices and perspectives rarely heard in mainstream media, Making Contact focuses on the human realities of politics and the connections between local and global events, emphasizing positive and creative ways to solve problems. <http://www.radioproject.org/>

Please find attached the program times aired with each program's detailed description, as well as the WETD Listener Survey identifying the most significant issues facing our listeners. This ongoing attempt not only allows WETD staff to locate and broadcast the best possible programming, but it helps establish a baseline for meeting our listener's identified needs.

Sincerely,

Russ Nunley

2015 WETD HDD Listener Surveys – Listener-Identified Significant Issues

Overview: In order to identify the most significant issues facing our listeners, WETD conducts two major listener surveys each year: Hot Dog Day (Alfred, April), and Main Street Festival (Wellsville, July). Based on these results, WETD is committed to providing the best programming in meeting these most significant identified issues of our communities.

The following is the 2015 Significant Issue Chart combined from WETD-conducted listener surveys at the Hot Dog Day Festival, Alfred NY on April 25, 2015, involving respondents from across Western New York and our local area, as well as the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce's Main Street Festival July 18, 2015. Using these results, WETD staff identified that respondents were most concerned about Drugs / Organized Crime issues in our communities. Health / Mental Health was second, followed by Teens/ Children / Parenting issues , Education Reform, Environmental Issues, Personal Finances , and then Politics.

In reviewing our current programming lists (included), WETD continues to be committed to providing programming that meets these needs, as well as considering the other identified needs within our community of license and our surrounding communities. Our Environmental Issue concerns are handled through The Best of Our Knowledge and Climate Connections, Earthwise, Loh Down on Science, & other daily programs. Relationships with others, Health Care Reform, and issues with children / teens / parenting are addressed with 51%, while our On The Money show encourages listener's personal & business financial education, especially for families with children & teens. A Way With Words literacy program, in addition to The Best of our Knowledge, assist listeners in understanding education reform programs. America's Test Kitchen provided nutritional encouragement for our communities Personal Health, and providing tips for families, children & teens. And the newly added Making Contact social change program addresses hard issues and questions relating to Drugs and organized crime, and health / mental health concerns.

On May 1st, 2013, WETD was honored to receive Alfred State College's coveted Civic Engagement Award, out of 80+ Alfred State College's Student Senate recognized & very active clubs and organizations, and one of 3 semi-finalists in 2014. WETD students continually strive to meet the needs of our communities both on and off campus. This was the fifth Civic Engagement and / or Community Service Award that WETD students have received in the past 10 years.

Since 2013, the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce has offered & accepted WETD annually as an Associate member in appreciation for WETD's community service supporting local businesses & community. WETD's next scheduled major survey will be conducted at the annual Hot Dog Festival, Alfred, NY, April 2016 with 7,000+ attendees anticipated.

7/7/2016	25:00	1346	There are some events that a whole lot of us get up for. Sports fans love the Super Bowl and the World Series and the World Cup. Movie fans wait for the newest sequel or big blockbuster. Most of us pay close attention to the elections. But for a political scientist...nothing this year will come close to Brexit! Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to a political science professor who is also an expert on European politics about the ins and outs and squiggles yet to come about the UK's recent vote.
7/14/2016	25:00	1347	If you want to train someone for a mission to the International Space Station here on Earth, you have to find a place that can be...space station-y. To do that, NASA is going off shore. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to a scientist who is taking part in this year's edition of Project NEEMO. We'll also hear how students can stay smart over the summer...and spend an academic minute checking out the size of the galaxy.
7/21/2016	25:00	1348	Being a teacher means mastering quite a few disciplines. Communication, innovation, empathy and you may not have thought of this one...ethics. In fact, educators come across ethical dilemmas almost every day...and how they deal with them affects students in profound ways. Not to mention themselves. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to the co-author of a new book on educational ethics. We'll also spend an academic minute seeing if lapses in ethics can be blamed on your hormones.
7/28/2016	25:00	1349	If you want to get ahead in life, you have to learn to make good decisions. And that should start at an early age. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll hear about a program in upstate New York called the Leadership project that is working to help 5th graders make good choices. We'll also hear about a new bachelor's degree in homeland security, find out what a warm line is (hint: it's kinda like a hot line...only less urgent), and we'll spend an academic minute learning from our mistakes.
8/4/2016	25:00	1350	You may have noticed that a lot of people are walking around a lot of places playing a certain game on their phones. Although it may seem that this game that shall not be named dropped from the heavens...it actually had to be developed by human beings. And people who can develop such things

			are in demand. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll hear about a new college degree in video game production. We'll also talk to a veteran teacher who wrote a book about helicopter parents, special snowflake and other...uh...stuff.
8/11/2016	25:00	1351	When you stop and think about it, a bachelor's degree in, well just about anything, is pretty much a one size fits all exercise. Students take the same classes from the same instructors and take the same exams. But that could be changing. So after talking about degrees in Homeland Security and Gaming in the past two weeks, today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll hear about a new customizable business degree program. We'll also talk about big data...it's everywhere. And we'll spend an academic minute with the story of the only female governor in the US to die in office.
8/18/2016	25:00	1352	If you're a sports fan, this has to be a great time of year for you. First of all, the Olympics are everywhere. Then there's the baseball pennant races, College and Pro Football getting underway. Student athletes of all ages from Pee Wee to Division One will be doing their best to be their best on the field. But for athletes of any age or experience level, that sometimes means taking performance enhancing drugs.
8/25/2016	25:00	1353	They're moving in. Millions of freshmen are getting ready for their first year of college and one of the big questions on their mind is: "did I pick the right major to help me get a job"? It's a pretty important question. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to an economist about where the jobs are...or at least where they will be in four years.
9/1/2016	25:00	1354	Traveling by air has never been safer. For years, airlines have put practices and procedures in place that make flying a safe, if not entirely comfortable experience. And a lot of people could learn a thing or two from their efforts. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to a pilot who is also a doctor and clinical chemist, about what the world of medicine could learn from the world of aviation. And since we're spending some time talking about flying, we'll spend an academic minute underground talking about caves.
9/8/2016	25:00	1355	We talk a lot about heroes in today's culture. In fact, the word has lost a little bit of its luster. But the world lost a hero a few weeks ago...someone whose name you may not know. Let's just say if you woke up this morning and you didn't have smallpox, thank Dr. D.A. Henderson. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll dip into the archives and replay my interview with Dr. Henderson who passed away last month at the age of 87. We'll also hear commentary from the head of the New York teachers union about ways to solve the ongoing teacher shortage.
9/15/2016	25:00	1356	In 1971, an actress from the Bronx, who had just made her Broadway debut, was offered an audition on a children's educational television show. It had

			already been on the air for two years...and it was different. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to actress Sonia Manzano, who retired last year after 44 years of playing Maria on Sesame Street. We'll also hear about a competition to build a better robot. The competitors/ Eighth graders from California
9/22/2016	25:00	1357	Here in the US, freedom's kind of a big deal. In fact, the founding fathers used the words freedom and liberty a lot while crafting the constitution. Now, over 200 years later, we're still studying those words and their meaning. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to a professor who says that liberty is the lodestar of our governing document. We'll also hear about a group of student suing for a better environment, attend the reenactment of a pivotal battle in the War of 1812...and spend an academic minute trying to find some peace and quiet.
9/29/2016	25:00	1358	In early September, the for-profit college ITT Tech suddenly shut down operations and over 50 thousand students were left with no degree, lots of debt and few options. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll hear from the Undersecretary of Education about what's being done to help the displaced students of ITT Tech. We'll also talk to the author of a book on evolution that is aimed at a very specific age group...preschoolers.

DATE	TIME	SHOW #	TOPIC
7/3/2016	54:00	1423	This week on "A Way with Words": Careful what you criticize! Not long ago, some words that sound perfectly normal today were considered gauche and grating on the ear. If the complainers had had their way, we couldn't say the word "pessimism" or use "contact" as a verb! Also, we'll settle another debate once and for all: is it "a historic" or "an historic"? Plus, what are you doing for Inside-Out Day? Also, bed lunch, sweven, hinky, johnny gowns, the real meaning of shiver me timbers, and more.
7/17	54:00	1425	Right off the bat, it's easy to think of several everyday expressions that derive from America's pastime. Including right off the bat. The Dickson Baseball Dictionary catalogues not just those contributions but also more obscure terms like "pebble picker," and explains why a fastball is called a "Linda Ronstadt." Plus, as more transgender people are publicly recognized, there's a debate about which pronouns to use. And who in the world would give a one-star review on Amazon to ... Herman Melville's Moby-Dick? Plus, the plural of hummus, tear the rag off the bush, to boot, synesthesia, paper stretchers, wet washes, and the verb to podcas
7/24	54:00	1426	If you don't have anything nice to say, say it like Shakespeare: Thou unhandsome smush-mouthed mush-rump! Thou obscene rug-headed hornbeast! The Shakespeare Insult Generator helps you craft creative zingers by mixing and matching the Bard's own words--perfect for the wanton swag-bellied undersinker in your life. Plus, how do you feel when you say "Thank you" and the person replies "No problem"? That response bothers many people--but should it? Plus, what happens when a married couple doesn't gee-haw together. Also: the origins of shimmy and smidge, ham-and-egger, a techie word quiz, double possessives, and enough food to feed Coxe's army
7/30	54:00	1451	Books for sale, books for free, and wisdom passed down through the ages. Libraries aren't just repositories for books -- they're often a great place to find gently used volumes for sale. Or you can always visit a "little free library," one of those neighborhood spot dedicated to recycling your own books, and picking up new ones for free. Plus: "When two elephants fight, it's the grass that suffers" -- weighty proverbs from East Africa. Finally, the United States and the UK are separated by more than a common language: the way we talk about numbers is also surprisingly different, depending on which side of the pond you're on. Also: I don't know him from Adam, stargazy pie, my dogs are barking, and cheiloproclitic. Ruminare on that!

8/7	54:00	1452	When it comes to learning new things, what's on your bucket list? A retired book editor decided to try to learn Latin, and ended up learning a lot about herself. There's a word for someone who learns something late in life. And when it comes to card games, how is it that the very same game goes lots of different names? What you call Canfield, other people may call Nertz! Finally, a bit of vulture culture: Words for these birds depend on what they're doing: A kettle of vultures is swirling in the air, while a group of vultures standing around eating is called ... a wake. Plus, cat's eyes, Bott's dots, dumpster fire, spagglers, Dan Ratherisms, pussle-gut, and let's blow this pop stand
8/14	54:00	1427	This week on "A Way with Words": People in ancient times could be just as bawdy and colorful as we are today. To prove it, we found some graffiti written on the walls in the city of Pompeii, and found plenty of sex, arrogance and good old fashioned bathroom talk etched in stone. Plus, British rhyming slang makes its way to our televisions through police shows on PBS. And a dictionary for rock climbers gives us a fantastic word that anyone can use to describe a rough day. Also, spitting game, hornswoggling, two kinds of sloppy joes, peppy sad songs, and endearing names for grandma
8/21	54:00	1428	This week on "A Way with Words": "If you come to a fork in the road . . . take it!" Baseball legend Yogi Berra was famous for such head-scratching observations.. What most people don't realize, though, is that the former Yankees star often wasn't the first person to say them. As Berra himself once quipped, "I really didn't say everything I said." Speaking of Yankees, do you know what a "Yankee dime" is? Here's a hint: it's wet, made with love, and you can't take it to a bank. "It's all downhill from here, y'all"--which is not always a bad thing. Plus, nice vs. kind, premises vs. premise, a time-travelling word quiz, drunk as Cooter Brown, footing the bill, and some new words for the opposite of avuncular.
8/28	54:00	1429	This week on "A Way with Words": Slang from the 19th century. The slang coming out of Victorian mouths was more colorful than you might think. A 1909 collection of contemporary slang records clever terms for everything from a bald head to the act of sidling through a crowd. Plus, how to remember the difference between CAV-al-ry and CAL-va-ry. And: what's the best way to improve how introverts are perceived in our society? For starters, don't bother asking for help from dictionary editors. Also, collieshangles, knowledge box, nanty narking, biz bag, burn bag, yuppies, and amberbivalence
9/4/2016	54:00	1430	What's in a mascot name? Maybe you're a fan of the Banana Slugs, or you cheer for the Winged Beavers. Perhaps your loyalty lies with the Fighting Artichokes. There are some strange names for sports team out there. But what's even stranger is the origin of the word "mascot" itself. It's from a 19th-century opera! And: the host of a television show about gardening is tired of using the verb "to plant," and is desperate for an alternative. But coming up with one is harder than you might think! Plus, a word for that sinking feeling when your favorite restaurant closes. Also, a word quiz based on the party game Taboo, the history of cataract, a begrudging ode to office jargon, and an old children's song about popping the heads off of flowers.

9/11/2016	54:00	1431	This week on "A Way with Words": This week on "A Way with Words": Can language change bad behavior in crowded places? The Irish Railway system has launched ad campaign to encourage passengers to be more generous at boarding time. For example, have you ever rummaged through your belongings or pretended to have an intense phone conversation in order to keep someone from grabbing the seat next to you? Then you're busted -- there's a word for that! Also, one of America's top experts on garage sales is looking for the right term for that kind of bargain-hunting. Is it garage-sailing? Yard-selling? Or something else? Plus, a Godfather-themed word game you can't refuse. And conversational openers, see-saw vs. teeter-totter, ledged out, scartling, trade-last, and beat the band
9/18/2016	54:00	1432	It's hard enough to get a new word into the dictionary. But what happens when lawmakers get involved? New Jersey legislators passed a resolution as part of an anti-bullying campaign urging dictionary companies to adopt the word "upstander." It means "the opposite of bystander." But will it stick? And: 17th-century abolitionist Sojourner Truth was born in New York State, but for most of her childhood, she spoke only Dutch. There's a good reason for that. Plus, practical tips for learning to converse in any foreign language: Think of it like an exercise program, and work out with a buddy. Also, rhyming slang, kick the bucket, behind God's back, world-beaters, Twitter canoes, a slew of slang terms for that yep-nope hairstyle, the mullet
9/25/2016	54:00	1434	The dilemma continues over how to spell dilemma! Grant and Martha try to suss out the backstory of why some people spell that word with an "n." At lot of them, it seems, went to Catholic school. Maybe that's a clue? Plus, the saying "Close, but no cigar" gets traced back to an old carnival game. And the French horn isn't actually French—so why in the world do we call it that ? Plus, a word game based on famous ad slogans, the plural form of the computer mouse, a Southern way to greet a sneeze, and remembering a beloved crossword puzzle writer

7/3	53:59	415	Food has become a national obsession and with it a multitude of flashy programs, magazines, books and blogs – ranging from pure entertainment to celebrity showcases. Yet they aren't much help to the every day cook. That's why America's Test Kitchen in Boston wants to find a better way to make a food program for radio. America's Test Kitchen Radio is a food program for right now – filled with clear, practical information, without the gourmet fuss. The hour is all about insights, tips and techniques that illuminate the truth about real home cooking. There will be some mystery, too, like why bad things happen to good recipes and the science behind good results The team behind America's Test Kitchen Radio knows something about connecting with audiences. Some two million public television fans watch each episode of America's Test Kitchen, the most watched weekend lifestyle show on public TV. America's Test Kitchen Radio host Chris Kimball will introduce listeners to an eclectic collection of test cooks and food experts from the Test Kitchen, and people who come at food and cooking from unique and useful perspectives, with rich stories to tell. Chris is a natural host during segments and call-in, and has moved easily from guesting on Morning Edition and other programs. In previews, test PD's called the show "surprising, useful and entertaining," "fascinating," "relevant" and "personal," and many said it drew them in even though they don't cook and aren't foodies.
7/10	53:59	520	This week from the Test Kitchen, an interview with Meathead Goldwyn. Meathead is the editor of AmazingRibs.com. He calls himself a Barbecue Whisperer, a Hedonism Evangelist, and a Culinary Mythbuster. We chat about his new book, Meathead: The Science of Great Barbecue and Grilling, and learn all the secrets to becoming a grill master. We'll taste hot dogs, and we'll check in with regular guest Dan Pashman of the Sporkful Podcast who argues that cheese should be under the burger. Then we'll head into the Test Kitchen to learn how to make the ultimate Grill-Roasted Beef Tenderloin. And of course, we'll be taking your calls to answer all of your cooking questions.
7/17	53:58	424	In 2010, a father-son crime duo attempted to poison the vines of La Romanée-Conti, the vineyard that produces Burgundy's finest and most expensive wines. This week we speak with Maximillian Potter, the author who chronicled this bizarre true crime story in his book "Shadows in the Vineyard: The True Story Of The Plot To Poison The World's Greatest Wine." 7/3/2016	29:00	25-16	Who is Charles Koch—really? Who are the members of “the Network”?—a semi-secret group assembled by the Koch brothers? How are the superrich’s priorities transforming American society? Journalist Jane Mayer spent several years searching for some of those answers, and her new book is titled Dark Money, the Hidden History of the Billionaires. Mayer is interviewed by Atlantic magazine editor-in-chief James Bennet.
7/10/2016	29:00	26-16	Existing in two worlds can complicate your identity and complete it—whether it’s understanding your medicine man grandfather, to deepening the concept of love through a different tongue, these storytellers takes us around the world from Colombia to Papua New Guinea, seeking definition and connections with presumably different cultures.
7/17/2016	29:00	27-16	In cities across the country, black women – many of whom have been on the front lines of the Movement for Black Lives – are lifting up the names of their sisters killed by police. This March, Manolia Charlotin, a multimedia journalist with the The Media Consortium, and Cat Brooks, artist and organizer with Oakland’s Anti Police-Terror Project sat down at a community event in San Francisco to talk about Say Her Name and what it looks like to build a movement that centers black women. Jamison Robinson, Yvette Henderson’s brother, talks about the difference it makes when a community comes together to demand justice after the police kill someone.
7/24//2016	29:00	28-16	Fredy Villanueva was playing dice in a park in Montreal North when police officers arrived. In less than a minute, the 18-year-old was fatally shot by police. Eight years later, what happened in those sixty seconds remains unclear. The documentary play Fredy tries to untangle what happened before and after the shooting, as it asks questions about racial profiling, systemic discrimination, and the promise of art for social change.
7/31/2016	29:00	29-16	Ross McKenzie was diagnosed with bipolar disorder, but after 15 years on Lithium, he wasn’t getting any better. 9/11/2016	29:00	35-16	Millions of people around the world work in jobs that aren't formally recognized or afforded legal protections typical of wage earning jobs. They're often not even thought of as legitimate work.  On this edition of Making Contact, we're going to meet people making work where there is no work for them. From recyclers, to border couriers, to waste pickers, we're exploring the informal labor sector and what some are doing to gain greater recognition, protections, and rights.

9/18/2016	29:00	36-16	September 11, 2001 ushered in an era marked by the unending War on Terror, dragnet government surveillance programs, and escalating attacks on people perceived to be Muslim. Just last month, Khalid Jabara, a 37-year old Lebanese American man was shot and killed on his front porch in Tulsa Oklahoma by a neighbor who had harassed his family for years, calling them ‘dirty Arabs’ and ‘Mooslems’. This is just one of the many reported attacks on people perceived as Muslims in the United States. Last year, there were 174 incidents of anti-Muslim violence, and that’s only if you count the attacks that made headlines. This backlash is just tip of the iceberg. Below the surface is a growing Islamophobia with deep roots in history and empire. Where does the idea of the ‘Muslim enemy’ come from? And how has it evolved into what we see today? Fifteen years after 9/11, Deepa Kumar, author of Islamophobia and the Politics of Empire, takes us back nearly 15 centuries to find out
9/25/2016	29:00	37-16	The US military didn’t shrink much under President Obama, and our perpetual state of war has barely waned since 9-11. Author Rosa Brooks says the consequences of this ‘new normal’ reach deep into our society; far beyond the body count of those killed overseas. On this edition, Rosa Brooks speaks about her new book, How Everything Became War and the Military Became Everything. Special thanks to Politics and Prose Bookstore in Washington DC
